Greg Johnson

About the Artist

Even at an early age Greg was fascinated by colors and form. From his early works in High school one could tell that there was a dramatic and unique artist waiting to burst out of the stagnant shell of drab and repetitive informality of every day art classes. Going his own direction, a talented and enthusiastic self taught Greg Johnson with an impatient desire to succeed entered his first juried art show and with great success soon moved up to major art shows like Toronto art Expo and New York.

Now an accomplished artist Greg exhibits in private collections in and through outthe U.S. and in Great Britain.
